

國立臺灣藝術大學 112 學年度進修學士班招生考試試題

科目：英文

- 說明： 一、本試題紙共 7 頁，試題紙上請勿作答。
二、請在電腦答案卡上使用 2B 鉛筆作答。
三、本試題紙須與答案卡一併繳回。

I. Vocabulary 詞彙：1 至 10 題，請選出正確的答案。

1. We went to see a history _____ at the museum this afternoon.
(A) works (B) exhibition (C) talk (D) speech
2. My acquaintance with Mr. Chen started as a business relationship and became a ____.
(A) friends (B) friendly (C) friendless (D) friendship
3. The company requires that all employees have a physical examination _____.
(A) rarely (B) never (C) annually (D) seldom
4. His most _____ effort to apologize failed to touch her heart because she was so angry.
(A) earn (B) earnest (C) earnestly (D) earning
5. It took us all quite a while to _____ what David was talking about.
(A) comprehension (B) comprehensive (C) comprehend (D) comprehending
6. The relics will _____ in a museum known for its excellent facilities.
(A) be displaying (B) be displayed (C) display (D) displaying
7. To apply for this position, the _____ must be a native speaker of English with a high level of writing and editing ability.
(A) sense (B) enthusiasm (C) eligibility (D) applicant
8. Growth in our Asian markets has been down to our team there _____ pursuing new sales channels.
(A) powerfully (B) vigorously (C) strongly (D) withdrawn
9. I spent too much money this month and, _____, I have to borrow money from my parents to pay my rent.
(A) immediately (B) lately (C) consequently (D) eventually
10. The fall in sales last month is disappointing but I don't think there's any need to worry _____ about it.
(A) excessively (B) excellently (C) exactly (D) expensively

II. Grammar 文法測驗：11 至 20 題，請選出正確的答案。

11. If the professor is unable to answer your question, Mr. Chen _____ help you.
(A) would not (B) can (C) did (D) could not
12. _____ the 1-year-warranty, the machine can be repaired, free of charge.
(A) At (B) Of (C) On (D) Under
13. Convenience stores provide consumers with good service and merchandise around the clock, which _____ necessary to remain competitive.
(A) was (B) has (C) have (D) are

14. She has _____ to trust him because he has lied so often.
 (A) few reason (B) little reason (C) reasons (D) reasonable
15. The old car was so slow that it shouldn't be driven on the highway or it would _____ all other vehicles and cause frustration.
 (A) hold on (B) hold down (C) hold up (D) hold over
16. Jack made a name for _____ by breaking numerous company sales records.
 (A) he (B) his (C) him (D) himself
17. The company's London's branch, which has been _____ profitable, is composed entirely of experienced personnel.
 (A) than (B) much (C) as much as (D) the most
18. _____ this kind of machine before, or should we call in a repairperson?
 (A) Have you ever repaired (B) Have ever you repaired
 (C) Ever have you repaired (D) Have you repaired ever
19. If we _____ all that supporting sales data, the client might have backed out of deal.
 (A) wasn't provided (B) wouldn't provide
 (C) hadn't provided (D) don't provide
20. David _____ this obnoxious air of superiority ever since he got a perfect score on his employee evaluation.
 (A) had been (B) has had (C) had (D) has been

III. Cloze Test 克漏字測驗：21 至 35 題，請選出正確的答案填入句子中。

Question 21-25

Outsourcing means contracting out certain functions to outside specialists. The great advantage of it is that it (21) companies to avoid unnecessary fixed costs and concentrate on growing their business. Almost anything can be outsourced. Some functions are (22) processes with easily defined outputs, such as payroll processing and office cleaning. Some requires (23) on skills or equipment which a medium-sized company could not afford: IT (requiring skilled staff and technology), call centers (providing round-the-clock availability) and accountancy (requiring professional skills and knowledge of changing regulations) are (24) of this. Sometimes outsourcing converts fixed costs into variable ones and improves speed to market. Sometimes it takes the hard work out of otherwise high-value business. The only activities that should not be outsourced are those which are absolutely (25) to the business.

- | | | | | |
|----|----------------|--------------|--------------------|----------------|
| 21 | A. facilitates | B. grants | C. eases | D. allows |
| 22 | A. staple | B. average | C. customary | D. standard |
| 23 | A. outlay | B. budgets | C. indulgent | D. overheads |
| 24 | A. samples | B. instances | C. representatives | D. occurrences |
| 25 | A. prime | B. principal | C. core | D. focal |

Question 26-30

Since dogs were domesticated more than 8000 years ago, they have undergone most of the cultural and environmental changes that have (26) their owners. Because they have (27) lives; however, dogs have gone through some 4000 generations, (28) human beings have gone through about 400. (29) studying the dog, we can get some idea of the future of mankind. The dog can serve (30) a genetic pilot for understanding the adaptability of the human race to changing social and environmental conditions.

- | | | | | |
|----|------------|------------|-------------|---------------|
| 26 | A. learned | B. damaged | C. affected | D. cured |
| 27 | A. shorter | B. longer | C. the same | D. no |
| 28 | A. then | B. than | C. whereas | D. instead of |
| 29 | A. To | B. By | C. Above | D. Of |
| 30 | A. be | B. to | C. in | D. as |

Question 31-35

Things were a lot (31) in the past. There were big storms. There were also giant, meat-eating sea scorpions. Last week, researchers discovered a fossil from the biggest sea scorpion yet. “They kind of looked like a flattened submarine,” explains Mario Tetlie, a scientist at Yale. “They had (32) claws in front which were a meter long. And they have five pairs of legs.”

Researchers call the sea scorpions eurypterids, and Tetlie says even their fossils are frightening. “My supervisor in Bristol used to say that he (33) be in a pool with a shark than in a pool with an eurypterid,” he says. Tetlie and his former boss are part of an international team reporting on a new discovery—a huge claw that came from a quarry in Germany. It is about 18 inches long. The creature it came from was probably 2.5 meters long. (34) Tetlie, sea scorpions led a simple life. “They ate fish, other smaller sea scorpions or whatever they could get their claws into,” he explains. About 250 million years ago, the sea scorpions disappeared. One reason might have been a decrease in (35) oxygen in the oceans, but Tetlie thinks they just got eaten. Something even bigger and more terrible came along, and that was the end of eurypterid.

- | | | | | |
|----|------------------|------------------|-----------------|-----------------|
| 31 | A. hard | B. harder | C. hardly | D. very hard |
| 32 | A. small | B. tiny | C. lovely | D. huge |
| 33 | A. would rather | B. rather | C. could | D. instead |
| 34 | A. Following | B. Agreeing with | C. Listening to | D. According to |
| 35 | A. the amount of | B. total | C. the reduced | D. how much |

IV. Reading Comprehension 閱讀測驗：36 至 50 題，請閱讀文章後選出正確答案。

Question 36-40

Kevin's Amazing Amusement Park

We guarantee that you will have great time!

- We have the highest wooden roller coasters in the country.
- We have a petting zoo for children and adults
- We have a newly designed water park featuring your favorite water slides.
- We have countless restaurants to choose from where you can slip away from the hot sun.

We personally want to recommend the Family Steak House. It's affordable and the service is superb! And if you have questions or get lost, just ask any of our friendly and courteous staff members. You will unmistakably enjoy Kevin's Amazing Amusement Park

36. According to the passage, which of the following is NOT offered at the amusement park?

- (A) Roller coasters.
- (B) Free food.
- (C) A zoo.
- (D) A water park.

37. According to the passage, what does Kevin's Amusement Park guarantee?

- (A) That you will want your money back.
- (B) You can feed the animals in the petting zoo.
- (C) You will have a great time.
- (D) The staff will always find missing or lost children.

38. How much does it cost to get into the amusement park?

- (A) It is not stated.
- (B) It is free on weekends.
- (C) $16 for adults and $10 for children.
- (D) Senior citizens will have free admission.

39. What does Kevin's Amusement Park recommend in particular?

- (A) To ride the roller coasters.
- (B) To swim at the newly designed water park.
- (C) To take your children to the petting zoo.
- (D) To eat at the Family Steak House.

40. When people get lost inside the amusement park, who should they ask for help according to the article?

- (A) policemen
- (B) staff members
- (C) firefighters
- (D) doctors.

Question 41-45

North Americans are big on breakfast and the bigger the breakfast the better. The key elements of a typical western breakfast are eggs, toast, and some kind of greasy, fried meat. Eggs are offered as “any style” meaning that they will be cooked any way you like: scrambled, boiled, poached, or fried. The standard meat offering is your choice of bacon, ham or sausage. In the United States, the meat part can sometimes be as serious as a whole steak. If you think your arteries can stand it, you can try a Southern U.S. specialty called “chicken-fried steak”. The dish involves breading a piece of steak and then deep-frying it.

The Canadian version of an overwhelming breakfast is often referred to as “the logger’s breakfast”. It contains the classic elements of 2 eggs any style, toast and fried meat, but add to that a stack of thick, fluffy pancakes covered in butter and maple syrup. It is popular North American belief that a big breakfast fuels you for the whole day.

41. What are the essential parts of a Western breakfast?
 - (A) Eggs, bacon, and toast.
 - (B) Fried eggs, sausage, and toast.
 - (C) Eggs, bread, and meat.
 - (D) Eggs, toast, and some kind of fried meat.
42. What does “eggs are offered as any style” mean?
 - (A) You can eat them any time of day.
 - (B) You can ask for them hot or cold.
 - (C) You can have them cooked any way you’d like.
 - (D) You have your choice of toppings like cheese or ketchup.
43. How do North Americans feel about breakfast?
 - (A) They think it is healthier to skip breakfast.
 - (B) They feel that it is the most important meal of the day.
 - (C) They think that a light breakfast is best.
 - (D) They care more about dinner.
44. What is unique about a chicken fried steak?
 - (A) It is breaded and deep fried.
 - (B) It’s chicken that tastes like a steak.
 - (C) It comes with gravy.
 - (D) It’s good for low cholesterol diets.
45. What is the special feature of a logger’s breakfast?
 - (A) You can only find it at restaurants that serve people who work in the forest industry.
 - (B) It comes with pancakes.
 - (C) It comes with sausages as big as logs.
 - (D) It isn’t served with eggs.

Question 46-50 refer to the following questions.

=====

Go to a lot of concerts? Like to write? Work for us!

TexRox Magazine is Texas's premier publication for music enthusiasts. From Denton to Dennison, Lubbock to Laredo, we're there to bring you the scoop. Whatever your taste—classical, jazz, rock, opera, techno - if it's being played in Texas, we make it our business to know about it. Send us a concert review. If we like it, we'll publish it in our magazine. If we really like it, you might get a regular “spot” in the magazine! The only thing we ask for is passion, mixed with a little creativity. Tell us how you really feel! Share it with us and maybe we'll share it with everyone else!

Please mail all reviews to:

Phil Barker
P.O. Box 2500
Dallas, TX 75209

=====

Dear Mr. Barker,

Please find below my impressions of the Soundproof Swing concert near Dallas last Saturday.

I've been to a half dozen Soundproof Swing shows in the last few years, but this performance at the Ellis Motorplex was the most charismatic I've ever seen. The venue seemed an odd place for a jazz concert, but what it lacked in intimacy, it made up for with energy. I've never seen them so chatty with the crowd! If they were trying to build a rapport, it worked. The audience ate up every note, chord, word, and stanza. The vibe was simply electric, and the open air was a surprisingly fine compliment to the music, played masterfully as always. A good time was had by all! Check their Web site (www.spswingsnow.com) for the next tour stop!

Thanks for the opportunity! Love your magazine!

Mandy Webster
Lincoln City, TX

=====

46. What is the purpose of the notice?

- (A) To get more reviews for the magazine.
- (B) To find concert reviewers.
- (C) To find out what kind of music is popular among the public.
- (D) To encourage people to subscribe.

47. The word "spot" of the advertisement is closest in meaning to
- (A) mark
 - (B) location
 - (C) section
 - (D) sight
48. What is true about the Ellis Motorplex?
- (A) It is a suitable place for a jazz concert.
 - (B) It is located in Texas.
 - (C) It feels comfortable.
 - (D) It frequently holds jazz concerts.
49. What did Ms. Webster say about the concert?
- (A) The audience ate up all the food served.
 - (B) The sound quality was fantastic.
 - (C) The fans were pleased.
 - (D) The concert cost too much.
50. How did Ms. Webster send this document?
- (A) By posting it on the Web site.
 - (B) By express mail.
 - (C) By courier.
 - (D) By post.

--- 題目結束 ---

國立臺灣藝術大學 112 學年度進修學士班(二)招生考試試題

科目：英文

- 說明：
- 一、本試題紙共 7 頁，試題紙上請勿作答。
 - 二、請在電腦答案卡上使用 2B 鉛筆作答。
 - 三、本試題紙須與答案卡一併繳回。

I. Vocabulary 詞彙測驗 (50%): 1-25 題，請選出正確的詞彙。

1. Richard has large eyes and a ____ nose.
(A)agreeable (B)spiritual (C)multiple (D)prominent
2. I was so ____ in my work that I didn't hear you calling me.
(A)attached (B)absorbed (C)calculated (D)licensed
3. Dolphins are known to communicate via a high ____ sound they produce.
(A)frequency (B)limitation (C)aspirin (D)bracelet
4. Mr. Warren ____ the reports as ridiculous.
(A)volunteered (B)entertained (C)dismissed (D)inspire
5. The evidence shows that Peter is ____ of robbing the bank.
(A)dependent (B)guilty (C)severe (D)genuine
6. The researchers did a study on population ____.
(A)attachment (B)percentage (C)convention (D)concentration
7. If you want the answer, you can ____ Gina.
(A)flee (B)spark (C)consult (D)install
8. Smiling is a(n) ____ expression.
(A)universal (B)isolated (C)definite (D)sympathetic
9. The princess retired to her ____ after the ball.
(A)resistance (B)chamber (C)loan (D)formation
10. Helen was ____ by her husband's sudden death.
(A)cracked (B)invented (C)dominated (D)consumed
11. Matthew once played a part in the ____ time television series.
(A)prime (B)mechanical (C)continual (D)permanent
12. Those soldiers were building a ____.
(A)reception (B)laboratory (C)horizon (D)fort
13. People ____ from one another in their hobbies.
(A)lecture (B)quilt (C)differ (D)disturb
14. I'll marry a man who is always ____.
(A)logical (B)dependable (C)disturbing (D)annoying

15. With ____ and pride, our principal reached the end of his life.
(A)dignity (B)conscience (C)merit (D)ballet
16. Do not take any action until the situation is ____ to us.
(A)psychological (B)fortunate (C)favorable (D)realistic
17. What ____ you to buy these flowers for me, Henry?
(A)departed (B)insured (C)launched (D)prompted
18. I feel sorry for the ____ of those poor kids in Africa.
(A)harmony (B)misfortune (C)allowance (D)inspiration
19. Pedestrians at intersections have ____ over vehicles.
(A)delicacy (B)entertainment (C)priority (D)fiction
20. The athlete's sore arm forced him to ____ from the competition.
(A)withdraw (B)await (C)grind (D)exhibit
21. After discovering that a migrant has provided fake and false documents for extending his stay in the country, an immigrant officer has decided to ____ the illegal migrant.
(A)dazzle (B)deduct (C)defect (D)deport
22. When Pamela moved with her husband from Germany to the United States, she didn't feel like ____ there until they had their first son a few years later.
(A)putting down roots (B)bringing to heel (C) calling the tune (D)cracking the whip
23. The light is flashing on and off continuously through the night. We need a new _____. Can you buy one for us on your way to work next morning?
(A)telegaph (B)circus (C)bulb (D)electron
24. Jeff first came to Australia as a tourist and became a(n) ____ immigrant because he didn't actually leave the country before his visa was expired.
(A)perpetual (B)substantial (C) unrestricted (D) undocumented
25. Many of the staff members had presented different proposals from the high-ranking officers. To their surprise, those who ____ the idea of the executive officer was fired last week.
(A)opposed (B)exploded (C)formed (D)sewed

II. Cloze Test 克漏字測驗 (20%): 26-35 題，請選出正確的答案。

How much do you know about nature's illustrious silkmaker? The silkworm is an insect worth (26) _____. It was first discovered in ancient China, (27) _____ it fed on mulberry trees. They could always be found stuffing themselves with the shiny green leaves. Silkworms have been carried from one country to (28) _____, traveling all around the world.

Wherever they went, they had to have mulberry trees. In all the years since their discovery, silkworms (29) ____ their eating habits.

Silkworms can't (30) ____ or make good silk without the leaves of the mulberry tree. If you raise silkworms, you can observe their eating habits and see them go through the different stages of their lives.

26. (A) to know (B) being known (C) knowing (D) known

27. (A) when (B) where (C) which (D) how

28. (A) the other (B) another (C) others (D) each other

29. (A) never changed (B) are never changing (C) never change (D) have never changed

30. (A) thrive (B) export (C) digest (D) breathe

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart was a (31) ____ and influential composer of the Classical period. He composed more than 600 works, many of which are acknowledged as (32) ____ of symphonic, concertante, chamber, operatic, and choral music. Born in Salzburg, Mozart showed (33) ____ ability from his earliest childhood. Already competent on keyboard and violin, he composed from the age of five and performed before European royalty. At 17, Mozart was (34) ____ as a musician at the Salzburg court but grew restless and travelled in search of a better position. In 1781, he decided to stay in Vienna, where he achieved fame but little financial security. He died at the age of 35 and the circumstances of his death have been much (35) ____, without factual nugget.

31. (A) intellectual (B) prolific (C) respectful (D) notorious

32. (A) ornaments (B) trends (C) pinnacles (D) vogues

33. (A) conventional (B) prodigal (C) prodigious (D) immerse

34. (A) served (B) engaged (C) awarded (D) entitled

35. (A) mythologized (B) sublimed (C) suspected (D) verified

III. Reading Comprehension 閱讀測驗 (30%): 36-50 題，請根據文意

選出正確的答案。

Stress seems like such a common part of our daily lives. People of all ages experience stress, whether it is a student studying for a test or an employee of an international company preparing for a major presentation. If stress has become such a commonplace occurrence in our society, what purpose does it have? What role does stress play in our everyday lives?

Researchers have found that stress is our body's coping mechanism in facing danger. Moreover, the way our body reacts is dependent on the circumstance that causes us stress. For example, if a truck driver is about to crash into another car, he will most likely feel his heart beat palpitate at a higher rate, his muscles contract, and his motor senses sharpen. These split-second reactions provide him with a higher chance of avoiding danger, either by pressing the brakes or by turning the steering wheel just fast enough to avoid a car accident.

Another coping mechanism our body uses to manage stress is by decreasing energy, or shutting down. This often happens when we put too much physical and mental strain on our body, such as staying up too late at night or working too many hours without any rest. In reaction to this kind of stress, our body shuts down in order to signal the need for urgent rest. Such signs of shutting down can manifest in many ways, such as experiencing memory loss, an inability to concentrate, a loss of appetite, and feelings of depression.

36. According to the passage, what is the main function of stress?

- (A) To decrease the chance of memory loss.
- (B) To protect our body against potential hazards.
- (C) To signal the need for our bodies to work harder.
- (D) To release hormones during dangerous circumstances.

37. What would be the best title for the passage?

- (A) The Ways We React to Stress.
- (B) The Reason of Stress in Our Life.
- (C) Common Stressful Circumstances.
- (D) What Causes Our Body to Shut Down?

38. According to the passage, what is NOT the human coping mechanism against stress?

- (A) Mental distress. (B) Intense muscles.
- (C) Faster heart beats. (D) Increased desire for food.

39. According to the passage, what could stress bring to an employee working for too many hours?

- (A) Poor memory. (B) Sharper senses.
- (C) A state of high mood. (D) Longer attention span.

40. What could be the source of this passage?

- (A) A finance journal. (B) A driver's license guide.
- (C) A cookbook. (D) A psychology magazine.

If Jane Austen's work is perceived as quintessentially British, it has found resonance across the world. In The Genius of Jane Austen, Paula Byrne writes that Austen is seen as having a particular affinity with Chinese culture, where "manners matter" as they did in Georgian England. There have been more than 50 written versions of Pride and Prejudice in China alone. This may be because the term "marriage market" in China is more than a turn of phrase. In Shanghai, parents of unmarried children flock to a weekly event described as "match.com meets farmers' market" where they scout for prospective in-laws. Chinese women still seek to marry property-owning men more educated than themselves. Ms. Byrne notes that Ang Lee, a Taiwanese director, was considered a perfect fit for Sense and Sensibility (1995) because his previous films had explored "family conflicts in the context of traditional Chinese values."

It is the subcontinent, however, that has embraced her books most enthusiastically, with Austen societies established in both India and Pakistan. The economic and social position of women, their reputation and eligibility are all themes that are easy to adapt to different cultural contexts, but there are also specifics that resonate in Indian and Pakistani society, such as the importance of familial bonds, the preference given to male inheritance, the dowry system and the "marrying off" of young women by overzealous mothers and aunts.

Laaleen Khan, the founder of the Pakistani branch, has noted that South Asian society has its share of "disapproving Lady Catherine de Bourgh-esque society aunts, rakish Wickhams and Willoughbys, pretentious Mrs. Eltons and holier-than thou Mr. Collins types."

This is the key to Austen's transformation from little known spinster-scribbler to literary superstar. Western readers may no longer empathize with the urgency that surrounds marriage or the idea that a relationship can be stopped in its tracks by monetary circumstance. But everyone has encountered a flirty, shallow Isabella Thorpe or a suave but seedy Henry Crawford. Two hundred years on, Austen's sniping observations of human vanity and folly still hit the mark.

41. What is the main idea of the passage?

- (A) Jane Austen's works have long-lasting appeal worldwide.
- (B) Jane Austen's creativity is formidable and adaptable.
- (C) Jane Austen inspires people's transformation from rags to riches.
- (D) Jane Austen's ideas have a special meaning for women.

42. What does the word "prospective" in the first paragraph mean?

(A)prosperous (B)promising (C)possessive (D)perceptive

43. What does the phrase “hit the mark” in the final paragraph mean?

(A)to be solemn (B)to be vigorous (C)to be accurate (D)to be eloquent

44. According to Ms. Byrne, why is Ang Lee, the Taiwanese director, a perfect fit for Austen’s novels?

(A) Lee has a natural liking and understanding of Jane Austen’s works.

(B) Lee represents a man of manners like those in Georgian England.

(C) Lee demonstrates a sense of Chinese culture in Sense and Sensibility.

(D) Lee deals with themes similar to Austen’s works in previous films.

45. Why are a number of characters in Austen’s novels cited in the last two paragraphs?

(A)Their types can be found in societies across the world.

(B)They are the ones that have been adapted into screens.

(C)Their names are renowned in Indian and Pakistani societies.

(D)They embody the economic and social positions of women.

The news media are hungry for new findings, and reporters often latch onto ideas from the scientific laboratories before they have been fully tested. Also, a reporter who lacks a strong understanding of science may misunderstand or misreport complex scientific principles. To tell the truth, sometimes scientists also get excited about their findings, and leak them to the press before they have been through a rigorous review by the scientists’ peers. As a result, the public is often exposed to late-breaking nutrition news stories before the findings are fully confirmed. Then, when the hypothesis being tested fails to hold up to a later challenge, consumers feel betrayed by what is simply the normal course of science at work.

Sometimes media sensationalism overrates the importance of even true, replicated findings. For example, the media eagerly report that oat products lower blood cholesterol, a lipid indicative of heart disease risk. Although the reports are true, they often fail to mention that eating a nutritious diet that is low in certain fats is still the major step toward lowering blood cholesterol.

Today, oat bran’s cholesterol-lowering effect is established, and labels on food packages can proclaim that a diet high in oats may reduce the risk of heart disease. The whole process of discovery, challenge, and vindication took almost 10 years of research. Some other lines of research have taken much longer. In science, a single finding almost never makes a crucial difference to our knowledge as a whole, but like each individual frame in a movie, it contributes a little to the big picture. Many such frames are needed to tell the whole story.

46. What is the main reason for inconsistent nutrition news reports?

- (A) Reporters generally lack fundamental knowledge in nutrition science.
- (B) The news media report research findings too soon before they are confirmed.
- (C) Nutrition researchers do not agree upon which findings to report from their labs.
- (D) Nutrition research lacks integrity in its methodology.

47. Which of the following is NOT true about oats?

- (A) A diet rich in oats can significantly reduce the risk of heart attacks.
- (B) Scientists have studied the nutrition value of oats for nearly a decade.
- (C) The importance of oats in controlling blood cholesterol was once overrated.
- (D) The early report about the cholesterol-lowering effect of oats has not been confirmed by later studies.

48. Which of the following is the most likely advice the author may offer to consumers?

- (A) Do not take early news reports on nutrition too seriously; wait and see.
- (B) Do not trust news reports on nutrition; read the original research papers.
- (C) Eat oats every day and you'd be safe.
- (D) Watch nutrition related movies to get the whole picture.

49. What does the phrase "each individual frame in a movie" in the final paragraph refer to in scientific research?

- (A) one individual study on a topic
- (B) the whole picture of nutrition science
- (C) the whole story of oats
- (D) an individual news reporter

50. Which of the following best serves as the title of the article?

- (A) Improvement of Nutrition Research Methods Needed
- (B) More Scientific Training Needed for Nutrition Reporters
- (C) Can We Trust the Media to Deliver Nutrition News?
- (D) Can Oat Bran Really Lower Cholesterol?